

Abstract

~~The present invention~~

The ~~present invention~~ proposes an apparatus (1) for sensing electromagnetic radiation with local resolution for image-producing sensors that can be economically produced and installed. This is achieved, according to the present invention, in that a micromechanically producible optical imaging system ~~(5)~~ is provided.